

Galerie

A suite at Puro Vik with a Mondrian-inspired rug. Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

This Stunning Chilean Resort Features 19 Villas Inspired by Art

Puro Vik boasts rooms inspired by Piet Mondrian, Dale Chihuly, and Utagawa Hiroshige

by GEOFFREY MONTES

MAY 13, 2019

Exterior of the Hiroshige glass villa. Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

Encompassing 11,000 acres in Chile's verdant Millahue Valley, a two-hour drive south of Santiago, the boutique hotel Vik Chile and its adjoining winery are known for an intoxicating blend of art, architecture, and wine. Now owners Alexander and Carrie Vik are expanding the on-site accommodations with a concept called Puro Vik, a cluster of 19 glass-walled villas embedded in the property's rugged hillsides.

"We wanted guests to really live in the treetops with grand panoramic views, while also maintaining privacy and comfort," says Alexander. Reflecting the owners' commitment to art, each residence boasts a unique theme (including rooms devoted to Piet Mondrian, Dale Chihuly, and Utagawa Hiroshige) plus access to the resort's existing amenities, among them a breathtaking infinity pool and cutting-edge "wine spa." Also, stay tuned for the upcoming Galleria Vik Milano in Italy, the fashionable brand's first foray outside of South America.

The glass-walled villas are lodged in the hillside.

Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

A suite inspired by Dale Chihuly that includes glass sculptures by Chihuly.

Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

The Letras (letters in Spanish) suite.

Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

Pop Art pieces by Roy Lichtenstein and Tom Wesselmann are among the works in this Pop Art-inspired suite.

Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

The Shape of Woman suite.

Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats

A bathtub with a scenic view of the Millahue Valley.

Photo: Courtesy of Vik Retreats